TERMS & CONDITIONS FOR THE REPRODUCTION OF PHOTOGRAPHS AND THEIR USE IN MULTIMEDIA PRODUCTS

These terms & conditions apply to all reproductions of images of the collections including reproductions in an electronic or multimedia product.

Permission to reproduce is dependent on the full acceptance of the terms & conditions detailed below and will be automatically withdrawn should any part be infringed.

1. Reproduction of items in the Ludwig Wittgenstein Trust collection from photographs other than those supplied by the Ludwig Wittgenstein Trust is STRICTLY PROHIBITED. Reproduction from low resolution digital images, 35 mm slides or microfilm is not permitted except in multimedia products.
2. Permission to reproduce is subject to all fees being paid in full. Payment must be received before the image is dispatched. Fees covers only the specific occasion detailed on the original Application Form. The rights granted are non- exclusive. All reprints, further editions, or use of photographic material, separation film or printing plates, other than for the purpose for which permission is granted, necessitates a new application to the Ludwig Wittgenstein Trust and payment of a further fee. This also applies to television programmes where permission to reproduce covers one transmission only. The permission granted and fee paid covers only one reproduction of each image in the product. The multiple use of an image is subject to an additional fee.
3. Copyright in all photographs (as defined in the Copyright Act 1956 and the Copyright, Designs & Patents Act 1988) remains the property of the Ludwig Wittgenstein Trust. The Ludwig Wittgenstein Trust requires that any publication right created by the publication of previously unpublished, out of copyright material be assigned back to the Ludwig Wittgenstein Trust. Photographs of works of art by living artists or artists who died less than 70 years ago can only be supplied, other than for research and private study, if the applicant has obtained written consent from the owner of the copyright, a copy of which must be sent to the Ludwig Wittgenstein Trust before the photographs can be released.
4. All reproductions must be credited either "Reproduction by permission of the Trustees of the Ludwig Wittgenstein Trust, Cambridge" or "Ludwig Wittgenstein Trust, Cambridge". This right is asserted in accordance with sections 77 & 78 of the Copyright, Designs & Patents Act 1988.
5. No photograph supplied for publication may be stored in a digital archive, nor may any hired transparency be duplicated for future use. The client must inform the Ludwig Wittgenstein Trust that any digital image copied to a computer hard drive has been deleted after the licensed use.
6. No manipulation of the image, other than for colour correction, is allowed without prior approval and based on the submission of artwork detailing the proposed changes.
7. In the case of certain scholarly monographs and articles in periodicals the Director may, at his discretion, waive the reproduction fee. The Director's decision in all matters of reproduction fees is final. Where a reproduction fee is waived or Educational fees allowed, the Ludwig Wittgenstein Trust requires that two copies of the publication be sent for its Reference Library.
8. These terms and conditions and the licence granted to reproduce the Ludwig Wittgenstein Trust's image shall be governed by the laws of England.
9. The image shall not be displayed on screen at a higher image size than 800 x 600 pixels, except for binary images of text, which may be displayed on screen at a magnification of x2.
10. The Client shall take responsibility for preventing third party access to the images in the product. The Ludwig Wittgenstein Trust requires that the images are not accessible as individual or identifiable files. Specifically, it shall not be possible to copy or otherwise extract the images in the normal course of using the product except to print pages for personal use.
11. The client shall ensure that the product includes a strongly worded copyright notice, on the packaging and as a screen display included in the product. It must acknowledge the copyright of the Ludwig Wittgenstein Trust's photographs and state in all relevant languages that the contents are protected by UK copyright law and the following are prohibited: a) Public performances or display, including transmission over a network, except by specific and separate agreement. b) The preparation of any derivative work, including the extraction, in whole or part of the image. c) Any rental, lease or lending of the product.
12. The client shall be responsible for ensuring that any third party distributor or producer of the product shall be bound by the terms of these terms & conditions.
13. On publication, all digital copies of the image, except those on the master disk to be used for further production runs, shall be destroyed. The Ludwig Wittgenstein Trust requires that the client confirms in writing that this has been done. No further copies shall be made except those made from the master as a part of the production run to be distributed and sold in any additional production run. (See Terms & Conditions, 2) 14. In addition to the reproduction fee, the client shall provide the Ludwig Wittgenstein Trust with two copies of the product within 10 days of publication.
